

THE ARIZONA REPUBLICAN.

SEVENTH YEAR.

PHOENIX, ARIZONA, TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 2, 1896.

VOL. VII. NO. 13.

If You Like Comfort

For Little Money Try One of Our Suits of

BALBRIGGAN UNDERWEAR,
SHIRTS AND DRAWERS.

ALL SIZES,
WELL MADE,

25 Cents
A Garment.

SPECIAL
FOR THIS SATURDAY.

Men's Cheviot and Percale Negligee Shirts

ALL SIZES,
ONLY 15 Cents
Each.

GOLDBERG BROS.,
SHOE AND CLOTHING STORE.

Remember Our Free Labor Office.

A SOUTHERN WARNING.

Two Negroes Lynched
in Georgia.

Both Were Charged With Heinous Crimes.

Hanged From a Tree and Riddled
With Bullets by the Mob.

COLUMBUS, Ga., June 1.—This morning a mob of 600 armed men broke into the Webster building during the trial of Jesse Slayton, charged with assaulting Mrs. Howard Bryan last Thursday, and took the prisoner from the officers. The mob forced the doors and with a resistless rush swept back spectators and guards and seized and carried the negro out into the street. A rope was placed around Slayton's neck and he was dragged up Broad street. Near the bell-tower they swung the negro up and perforated him with bullets.

After this the mob, as coolly and deliberately as in the first instance, went immediately to the court house and overpowering the jailer took Will Miles, a negro, charged with assaulting Mrs. Albright two years ago, and marched him slowly to where Slayton's lifeless body was hanging from a tree. The trembling negro was made to look upon the fate of his brother in crime, then a rope was placed about his neck and he was slowly suspended in the air and his body riddled with bullets.

"THE GOLD KING."

Another Large Audience at the Park Theater Last Night.

The success of the Park Theater company Saturday night in "The Gold King" was sufficient to draw another large house last night and like the audience of the first performance, everybody was perfectly satisfied with both the play and performers. It is safe to say that the theater from now on through the summer will be a popular resort.

Gustave Neville as "Jack Redmond" made the same hit that he made on Saturday night; Elwin Barlowe as "Squire Mervine" was exceptionally good; Will H. Gregory in the dual roles of "Andre Mervine" and "Captain Wallace" pleased the audience, although he was playing out of his line; Lincoln J. Plumer as "Dennis O'Hara" captured the audience and on every entrance was greeted with applause.

Walter Belasco as "Farmer Witson" and "Officer Ellis" sustained the characters nobly. Miss Pauline Maitland as "Robert Jackson" proclaimed that lady to be an actress of rare ability. Miss Kate Raymond made a most pleasing effect on the audience in her character of "Blanche Wilson," the farmer's daughter. She is a beautiful woman and has a most decidedly pleasing stage appearance. Last, but not least, is "Pug," as impersonated by Frances Neville, who was the pride of the audience. She is a most clever and charming actress and on her first appearance it was plain to be seen that she will become a favorite. She impersonated the character true to life and her acting as a wild, untamed child of the mountains was captivating.

Jos. Corcoran as "Dr. Melchior" was very good and showed him to be an actor of first-class ability. "The Gold King" will be played tomorrow night and Friday, and Saturday night. The play for next week will be "Old Hoss," an uproarious comedy.

THE TOM SCOTT SURVEY.

How the Proposed Santa Fe Line Would Reach Phoenix.

Solomonville Bulletin: The building of the Santa Fe line now proposed to run from Silver City, New Mexico, to California, would add a wonderful impetus to the prosperity of Arizona, and it would give passengers passing from east to west over that line an opportunity to view the garden spots of Arizona, whereas those who have never seen Arizona except from the windows of Southern Pacific cars have only beheld a barren waste, with no sign of life except here and there a herd of cattle. The original railroad survey made through southern Arizona and known as the "Tom Scott Survey" came through by Duncan on the upper Gila and passing near Ash Springs, entered this valley just above Solomonville. Had that route been adopted by the Southern Pacific the eastern Klee of Arizona would not now be associated with a desert, for travelers over that line would have been transported through a garden spot from the time they entered Arizona on the east until they left it on the west. Of course the talk of this Santa Fe line is only speculation now, but when Engineer Vaughn passes over the proposed line through this valley and the vast mineral and cattle country between here and Florence, certainly he will be impressed with the vast field for developing business for such a railroad.

LA VIGNE A VICTOR.

LONDON, June 1.—In the fight between Kid Lavigne and Dick Burge at the National Sporting club tonight, Lavigne won in eighteen rounds.

FOR MAYOR AND BONDS.

City Election of Phoenix Today.

A Very Quiet Campaign as a Change.

What the Registered Citizen Will Vote for at the Polls.

Last night ended what was probably the quietest municipal campaign ever known in Phoenix, and today the people will go to the polls, (or at least the small fraction of the people who are registered) to vote for a mayor, and upon the question of the issuance of a considerable batch of city bonds to liquidate at a lower rate of interest the outstanding city indebtedness. The matter of the election of a councilman from the Second ward is of little moment, for there there is no contest, Emil Ganz, an old resident, formerly mayor of the city, being the nominee alike of the citizens' and Democratic tickets.

The only meeting of the campaign was held last night on the plaza by the Democrats. There was a brass band, a few electric lights had been secured about the speakers' stand and a crowd of several hundred came to listen to the pleas. Among the speakers were Joseph Campbell, T. E. Farish and H. M. Willis. The talks were mild and mildly were they received. They were largely in a spirit of antagonism to progress and devoted to an exposition of what Burger would not do were he to be chosen to fill the executive chair.

The issue made by the Democratic speakers seems to be the real issue of the campaign. It would appear to have been resolved into "Monihon and Progress," as opposed by "Burger and Mossback Methods." The issue is agreeably accepted by the supporters of the citizens' ticket and upon that line will it be fought today.

Without allowing political prejudice to enter into the matter, Monihon appears to be the general favorite among the voters and all the bets that were offered last night were in his favor, finding no takers. Monihon's admirable record in the office before has shown the people what they may expect in the coming term and the average citizen is well content with the prospect.

One of the features of Jim Monihon's service to the people during his score and more of years of residence in Arizona has been in connection with the great Peralta-Reavis fraud. When the men who are now opposing him for office were shrinking and trying to make terms with the great impostor, Monihon stood firm, asserting to all that the grant was a damnable fraud, by his own knowledge, and that he had the evidence to puncture it when it should come to trial. He spoke the truth. He went to Santa Fe when the case was called and was found to be the only living individual to whom Willing had expressed himself in regard to the true character of the grant, which was in effect a creation of Willing. Upon Monihon's testimony very largely was the grant overthrown and Reavis placed in jail to await trial on forty indictments of felony. June 23 Monihon will again have to go to Santa Fe to attend these trials and it is believed without doubt he will go as mayor of Phoenix.

The election will be held today between the hours of 7 a. m. and 5 p. m. The polling places will be as follows: First ward, Gardiner block; Second ward, North Center street, near alley, between Washington and Adams; Third ward, Justice Johnstone's office, Wall street; Fourth ward, city hall. City Councilmen Dennis, Phillips and Moss will serve as inspectors in their several wards, while F. W. Sheridan will act in that capacity in the Second ward, which lacks a city officer.

The election originally was called for the purpose of voting upon a question of renewing a lot of fire department bonds, $10,000 in amount, which became due in October. The time was deemed by the council propitious for calling for an expression of the people on the matter of clearing up all the old 10 per cent warrants that are now a very snap for the bill discounter and in their place putting low interest bonds, that the city might once more do business on a cash and economical basis. These warrants outstanding, up to April 30, 1896, aggregated $39,500. There seems to be not an objection of weight so far to have been urged against the bonding questions and they will likely be carried by almost a unanimous vote.

Attached to this bond question will the duty of electing a mayor and a councilman for the Second ward, for Mayor Rosson and Councilman Low took the opportunity of resigning only when they saw that their successors could be elected at no additional cost to the municipality. The voting will be done according to the regular Australian ballot system and all who have failed to place their names on the city great register will be excluded.

GRAND CANYON CAVES.

The Discovery That Has Been Made North of Flagstaff.

Coconino Sun: The latest discovery that has been made in the Grand canyon will have the effect of materially adding to the interest and pleasure to be derived from a visit to this wonderful spot. This is an enormous cave, or series of caves, with two openings about fifty yards apart, containing numberless compartments. It has not been fully explored yet, but one compartment has been found to be 1,500 feet long and two others 300 feet long. One cut is 250 feet high and seventy-five feet wide, and the prismatic colors of the stalactite and stalagmite make those caverns a truly wonderful and absorbing scene. The caverns lead in every direction under the mountains, and there is no doubt that as soon as geologists become acquainted with the fact that such a cave is in existence crowds will attend to explore its mysteries.

The new discovery is called the Stalactite Cave, and is very easily accessible. The best way to get to it is by following the Cameron and Grand View trail, which is about three miles from the hotel, and from the rim to the cave is three miles further. In addition to exploring these catacombs, the visitor is rewarded with what the name of the trail indicates—a grand view; nay, possibly the grandest view that has ever been vouchsafed to mortal to behold. All the grandeur and magnificence of Arabian tales, with their wonderful word painting, all the poetry of imagination, fade into insignificance when contrasted with that one view. It is superb, magnificent, sublime. Human intellect cannot grasp its details, and language is too poor to convey any idea of its immensity, its grandeur and sublimity.

RIGHT OF WAY DISPUTE.

Knotty Problem That Is Before the County Supervisors.

The county board of supervisors met yesterday in regular monthly session. The regular bills engrossed the major portion of the time, though a hard fight was made by principals and attorneys against the grant by the supervisors of a right of way along a county road south of the river, for several miles to N. M. Broadway, whereby he might construct to his farm a ditch taking water below the tall race of Hayden's mills at Tempe. The action was opposed by M. Wormser, one of the heaviest property owners in the region along which the ditch will have to pass, and was supported by C. T. Hayden and others. The board took the matter under consideration. The case is peculiar. Broadway's ranch is one of the oldest in the Salt River valley and to him is a decided priority of right on water, second perhaps to only the Salt River Valley canal. His heading was far down the river, nearly south of Phoenix. When the water began to be taken out far up on the river the stream liberated for him was in itself too small to make its way over the dry river sands of the summer, with the result that his ditch has for several months of the year been dry. He now seeks to go farther up the river with his ditch heading, to a point where the Hayden tall race delivers water to the older canals and thence bring the supply to which he is undoubtedly entitled. His way would be for much of the way over the many thousand acre farm of Miguel Wormser, and to obviate the condemnation the supervisors have agreed to give him permission to run along a county highway. This permission Wormser contends can only be given by the owners of the land fronting the road and to that end will fight. Wormser's animus comes from the fact that Broadway's appropriation of water is somewhat at the disadvantage of the appropriation of the San Francisco canal, in which Wormser is a principal owner.

STRUCK IT RICH.

SACRAMENTO, June 1.—John R. Harmens, alias "Karl Tramp," the man who found treasure stolen from Wells, Fargo Express company, by Brady & Browning, and squandered it in riotous living, was today sentenced to the penitentiary. He will spend three years in prison at Folsom.

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE.

CHICAGO, June 1.—D. Adler, architect, received today a letter from Isaac Taylor, his associate in the construction of the St. Louis convention hall, in which Mr. Taylor states all damage by the storm of Wednesday to the convention hall had been repaired at a cost of less than $400.

ROYAL YACHT RACING.

LONDON, June 1.—In the regatta of the Royal Harwich Yacht club today the Santanita crossed the finish first, Britannia second, and Alisa was third. In the race for the large yachts, Britannia, however, won on the time allowance.

THE SILVER MARKET.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Silver bars, 68%; Mexican dollars, 54%.

SHOLTO IS A PLAGIARIST.

He Fooled the New York World.

Bodily Stole a Story of Adventure.

The Aggrieved Journal Pays Its Respects to the British Copyist.

Lord Sholto Douglas, who is now sojourning for a season in Phoenix, does not lay claim to high literary ability, yet is here in Arizona to give to the world through the columns of whatever journal as may accept them at space rates, his impressions of the wild west and of Arizona especially.

The following, relative to the first literary effort of the scion of the Marquis of Queensberry, needs no explanation. It seems The World was bunched. Hence it mourns with exceeding woe and in reparation, with the autograph letter presented in full and fac simile, prints the following apology:

"The Sunday World is free to say that it is sorry the Marquis of Queensberry was ever born. The Marquis of Queensberry is father to that most puissant lord, Sholto Douglas, and Douglas has played it on us in a way that we grieve.

"From Lord Sholto Douglas we received the following interesting communication, all written in his own hand:

"Postoffice, Phoenix, Arizona, April 25th, 96.

"To the Editor, The New York World, New York.

"From Lord Sholto Douglas, Phoenix, Arizona.

"Dear Sir: Enclosed is a story written by me. I give it to your paper exclusively if you publish it. Should expect payment at your usual rate per column. It consists of about three columns.

"Some time ago you offered to take syndicate articles written by me, entitled A Thousand Miles on a Cayuse, illustrated by John E. Coker. Owing to our having made previous arrangements with the New York Journal, I could not accept your offer. Thanking you very much for the same,

"I remain, sir,

"Yours truly,

"SHOLTO DOUGLAS.

"P. S. Would be much obliged if in any case you would return the M. S. S. of the Passing Show."

"With this letter there came a story also entirely in the lord's own hand.

"Said the young man who read stories to the editor who accepts them: 'Here's a manuscript from Sholto Douglas, who wants to sell it to us.'

"Said the editor, foolishly trusting to the Lord Sholto: 'If it's not too bad, get it up. It will amuse free America to see what sort of stuff a lord would write.'

"So it was 'got up' and it was printed, for the young man who reads stories did not happen to have in his head every line of prose ever written and he did not know that the story was stolen from the works of Richard Malcolm Johnston.

"The book from which Lord Sholto Douglas calmly took his little story is owned by D. Appleton & Co., who bought the copyright from Harper & Brothers. The book calmly peddled out by Lord Sholto Douglas is called 'Dukesborough Tales, the Chronicles of Mr. Bill Williams.'

"A courteous letter from Messrs. Appleton called the attention of the Sunday World to the fact that it had been imposed upon. The Sunday World here begs to apologize to Messrs. D. Appleton & Co., and expresses sincere regret that it should—however innocently—have published without permission matter owned by that firm. The Sunday World recommends to the general public the careful perusal of 'Mr. Bill Williams' Chronicles,' which are most fascinating."

It is rather an unusual thing to see any large amount of freight come into Phoenix during the summer, as the merchants generally consider it the dull season and let their stock run down preparatory to arranging for the fall trade. The Alkire company is about the only firm that is now receiving big shipments of goods almost daily. A large invoice has just arrived consisting of calicoes, gingham, etc. This line will be closed out at reckless prices. The calico will go at 3 cents per yard, gingham at 5 cents, Victoria lawns at 6 1/2 cents, and Nainsooks in abundance at 5 cents per yard. The ladies should not fail to take advantage of this offer. It is worth while seeing them at any rate.

The rush still continues at the Alkire company's store on straw hats, summer suits and negligee shirts. The shirts and suitings are for men of all sizes and the straw hats are of the latest style and best material and the best thing about it is the fact that everything in the large establishment is sold cheaper than anywhere in Arizona.